

SOVIET CHIEFS PLAN TO WRECK ARMS MEETING

Lenine and Trotsky Angered Over Being Ignored To Take Revenge.

FORESEE UPRISINGS

Conference to Be Called Will Be Modeled Upon Baker Congress.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Angered by the action of the powers in ignoring Russia and Siberia, Lenine and Trotsky with the connivance of leaders of the so-called far-eastern republics, are planning to wreck the work of the Washington conference, according to advices here today from observers in Moscow and Vladivostok.

The plan contemplates revolutions throughout Asia, with principal efforts directed toward India, China and Korea, where it is hoped communistic uprisings can be staged of sufficient magnitude to defeat any scheme which may be evolved at the Washington conference for permanent settlement of the far eastern problems.

As the first step in this plan, Lenine has served notice upon the powers that Russia will not be bound by the decisions of the Washington conference. The second is the calling of a communist conference to sit either at Chita or Vladivostok simultaneously with the Washington conference.

The Siberian "far-eastern conference" will be modeled upon the famous "congress of the peoples of the east," held at Baku in the autumn of 1920, which is credited by soviet leaders with having intimidated Great Britain into concluding the trade agreement with the Moscow government.

At Baku, 1,891 delegates from all parts of the near and far east took oaths to "work night and day to cause their respective countries to rise against capitalism and overthrow it." A "soviet of action of propaganda" was organized with far reaching plans for stirring up revolt against British rule in India, and whatever may have been the primary considerations which led Great Britain to conclude the trade agreement with Krasnii, it is a fact that the provision upon which British statesmen laid greatest stress at the time was the guaranteeing of the cessation of soviet propaganda in the Indian empire.

The so-called far eastern republic recently asked the United States for representation in the Washington conference, which was refused on the ground that no recognized government exists in Russia or Siberia. In the absence of such a government, Secretary Hughes announced, the protection of the interests of the Russian people devolves as a "moral trusteeship" upon the conference.

IRISH DELEGATES MEET DEVALERA

London, Nov. 5.—Michael Collins, commander in chief of the Irish republican army and Gavan Duffy, Sinn Fein envoy to Rome, two of the members of the Sinn Fein delegation to the Irish peace conference, left for Dublin today to consult with Eamonn Devalera. It is understood that the conference will relate to the attempts of Premier Lloyd George to secure an adjustment between Ulster and South Ireland. Collins said he would return to London on Monday.

Sir James Craig, premier of the Unionist government of Ulster arrived from Belfast this afternoon and immediately went to the premier's country home at Chequers for a conference.

COLD STORAGE FOODS PLACARDED

Urbana, Nov. 5.—The health commissioners of Urbana and Champaign county have received a warning from the state board of health to be on the lookout for law violation in the matter of offering cold storage food stuffs for sale either by wholesale or retail without the proper placarding.

The law makes plain that sellers of cold storage goods must conspicuously placard these products giving the date of their removal from storage.

The state board makes plain that this is not an attack on cold storage goods which it claims is often necessary but the notice is directed against dealers who fail to comply with the law in this regard.

MILLERAND WILL NOT INTERFERE

Paris, Nov. 5.—While President Millerand has assumed control of domestic affairs in the absence of Premier Briand, he does not intend to interfere with the French policy at Washington, he announced today, replying to a request from the International News Service for a statement regarding the Washington conference. President Millerand said:

"I think it would be improper in as much as the head of the government will be in Washington."

Plant, for $250,000 for injuries she received in an automobile accident while riding in Mr. Plant's car, which he was driving at the time, over a year ago, Miss Jesmer before the accident was very beautiful, and as a result of the smash-up, she states in her charges, received a fractured skull, and broken jaw, disfiguring her for life. Plant, who is nineteen years old, is the stepson of Colonel William Hayward, now Federal District Attorney.

Thousands Welcome Foch To Chicago On Saturday

Cheering Crowds Meet French Military Leader on Arrival In "Windy City"—Honorary Degree Conferred Upon Him at University

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Ferdinand Foch, marshal of France, arrived in Chicago today from Indianapolis and was welcomed by a cheering, flag-waving singing crowd of hundreds of thousands.

The streets through which the veteran leader of the world's greatest army in the world's greatest war passed in triumph, was densely lined with people. The cheers for Foch shook the city.

When Marshal Foch's train arrived he was met by city dignitaries and a personal bodyguard of the American Legion. At the station, also, was a squadron of United States cavalry and a detachment of the Illinois field artillery with its bands and a platoon of mounted police.

At the reviewing stand in Grant Park on the lake front, Marshal Foch was officially welcomed by Governor Len Small and Mayor William Hale Thompson.

After these ceremonies, Marshal Foch was escorted by marching thousands to the University of Chicago, where the honorary degree of doctor of law was conferred upon him at a special convocation. President Harry Pratt Judson of the university presided.

Late this afternoon Marshal Foch was to place a wreath upon the statue of Abraham Lincoln in Lincoln park.

He was to be dinner guest to night at the home of Arthur Meeker which will also be attended by the French consul and French societies. Later he was to attend a mass meeting in the auditorium.

Sunday he will be the guest of the Knights of Columbus.

UP TO OPERATORS OF OHIO DECLARES STATE PRESIDENT

Unless Check Off System Observed Employers Will Be Hit.

Columbus, Nov. 5.—"I believe that all Ohio coal operators now will proceed, as usual, in observing the check off provision of our wage contract and that things will run along smoothly, but if any of the operators should fail to check off they will be up against it," declared Lee Hall, president of the United Mine Workers of Ohio today.

President Hall stated that in view of the action of the U. S. Circuit court of appeals at Chicago suspending Federal Judge Anderson's injunction decree, pending hearing on Nov. 16, on the appeal filed by officials of the United Mine Workers of America, he did not believe any operator would refuse to use the check off system.

As a result of the action of the federal circuit judges, President Hall expects the members of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association to rescind their action, taken at their conference at Cleveland, yesterday, when they voted to abide by the decision of Judge Anderson and abolish the check off system.

Prediction was made by President Hall that, in the event this action is not annulled, it will result in a walkout on the part of the 20,000 miners employed in the mines controlled by the association.

Union miners officials here today expressed the belief that all striking miners throughout the Ohio coal fields are returning to work in compliance with instructions issued by the executive board, Ohio United Mine Workers.

While the menace of a coal strike appears temporarily eliminated at least, operators and miners alike are making preparations, it is said, for a possible strike in the event that the miners' appeal from Judge Anderson's decree proves unsuccessful.

NEW ARMY TO BE STARTED SOON

Washington, C. H., Nov. 3.—According to men who have been in touch with the proper officials at Columbus, the new army in this city will be started next spring and the cost will be $40,000, or if a regimental band could be obtained for city and additional $15,000 would be added to the fund, it is understood.

MINERS' APPEAL WON; STRIKERS BACK AT WORK

U. S. Court of Appeals Orders Rehearing of Temporary Injunction.

WORKERS JUBILANT

Unions Hail Order As Distinct Victory for Their Forces.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Predictions that the thousands of striking coal miners in Indiana and Pennsylvania would return to work Monday were made today as the result of the action of the United States court of appeals in Chicago ordering a rehearing on the temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson at Indianapolis last Monday.

Judge Anderson's injunction placed a ban on the check off system under which union dues and other assessments are deducted from miner's pay. The appeals court order suspended the part of Judge Anderson's injunction which related to the check off issue, pending the rehearing on Nov. 16.

While coal operators greeted the order with little enthusiasm, officials of the United Mine Workers of America, hailed it as a distinct victory. They predicted the return of the 28,000 striking mine workers in Indiana. The walk-out of 40,000 Pennsylvania miners, scheduled for Monday is expected to be cancelled.

In granting the appeal hearing the court, with Judges Evans, Alschuler and Baker sitting, directed the clerk of the district court at Indianapolis to forward transcript of all evidence in the case that provoked the coal strike crisis.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 5.—Strike of coal miners in Indiana was called off at noon today by John Hessler, district president. The miners are highly pleased with the action of the court of appeals in Chicago, it was stated, and are expected to return to work Monday. Word of the Chicago court's action arrived too late to permit resumption of operations today.

PREMIER BRIAND GREETED AMERICA

On Board the Liner Lafayette at Sea, Nov. 5.—Via wireless—Premier Briand, head of the French delegation to the Washington conference, today extended his greetings to the United States and the American people through the International News Service.

"The whole French delegation is ready to do its best to make this gesture towards world peace—as the Washington conference might be termed—a success," said the French Premier.

"Please convey my greetings to the Americans who are, I know, the friends and not the enemies of peace."

"Super Power Survey" Shows That Great Saving Would Be Effected in Section Between Boston and Washington Under Proposed Arrangement of Plants

Washington, Nov. 5.—Secretary of the Interior Fall today transmitted to President Harding a comprehensive report on the "super power survey," which favors a comprehensive system for the generating and distributing of electricity to transportation lines and industries in the region between Boston and Washington.

The report based on an engineering study made under authority of Congress, shows that there would be great economy of fuel, labor and material if a plan can be devised by which all the large generating plants in this district might be combined in one big system.

"The nation's business demands greater and cheaper production and better and cheaper transportation and the electrification of industries and railroads is the answer to that demand," said Secretary Fall. "To connect all the large generating plants—both steam and water power—in one great system means more and cheaper electric current, because each ton of coal will be used to the best advantage and our idle rivers will be made to turn wheels, especially in the regions farthest removed from the coal fields."

"Looking ahead to 1930," added secretary Fall, "with the increased demand for power that can then be reasonably expected, the total coal saved annually under the unified system will be 50,000,000 tons. Under motor operation the industries could save $190,000,000 annually in their power bill and could make a greater output of product. The ordinary citizen also ought to profit directly by the super power system because it promises a reduction of one cent a kilowatt hour in the first cost of the current as put on the transmission lines."

The report points out that the territory between Boston and Washington includes two per cent of the United States but it contains 22 per cent of the total population. This region is in fact the most crowded workshop of the country, containing 96,000 manufacturing establishments, 76,000 of which used power in 1919 to the amount of more than 12 1/2 billion kilowatt hours.

GERMANS NOT SURE OF BANK PROPOSAL

Berlin, Nov. 5.—German financiers and industrialists are skeptical of the results of the proposed gold revaluation of central Europe. The scheme for the creation of the bank which was to be modeled after the federal reserve bank system in the United States came from Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier. It was learned today that practically all of the German bankers and business men with whom Mr. Vanderlip talked told him that they did not believe that Germany could be relieved by any other means than revision of the Versailles treaty. Among the financiers, with whom Mr. Vanderlip conferred was Arthur Von Gwinner, head of the Deutsche Bank.

MUCH-AMENDED TAXATION BILL TO BE PASSED

Reach "Moral" Agreement for Passage of Compromise Measure.

Washington, Nov. 5.—A "moral" agreement for the passage of the much-amended compromise tax bill by Monday night, was reached today by Republican and Democratic senators.

Even Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Senator Keed, Democrat of Missouri, two of the bill's most "irreconcilable" opponents, indicated that they would not stand in the way of a final vote on the measure on Monday.

An amendment offered by Senator La Follette to require holders of tax exemption securities to list their holdings at the time they make their income tax returns was adopted by the senate today by an overwhelming vote. The vote was 38 to 11. Republicans joined with Democrats in supporting the amendment, the first of a series offered by La Follette.

By a bare margin of two votes, Senator La Follette's proposal to require the treasury department to make public all tax returns was defeated 35 to 33.

JAPANESE CABINET RESIGNS FOLLOWING PREMIER'S DEATH; KILLER. POLITICAL FANATIC

Count Uchida, Foreign Minister, Has Been Appointed Acting Premier—Tragedy Will Not Change Policy of Delegation at Arms Meeting.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The assassination of Premier Hara will not change the Japanese policy to be pursued at the conference it was officially stated this afternoon by Baron Shidehara the Japanese ambassador and also one of Japan's principal delegates.

Confirmation of the resignation of the Japanese cabinet as a result of the assassination of Premier Hara, was received at the Japanese embassy here shortly before noon today.

There is no expectation that either Prince Tokugawa or Admiral (Baron) Kato who ranked next to the dead premier in the Japanese cabinet, will return to Japan, it was stated at the embassy.

The resignation of the cabinet as a result of Hara's death was said to be a formal move and was not indicative of any grave political crisis.

The Genro or Elder statesmen, including Prince Yamagata and the Marquises Matsukata and Saionji went into session late today. Upon their decision depends upon whose shoulders will fall the task of forming a new cabinet to succeed that of Premier Hara.

It was believed here today that Marquis Saionji leads all the possibilities to head the new cabinet. As one of the elder statesmen he occupied a place in the public life of Japan very close to the royalty.

Following Marquis Saionji in the list of possibilities to head the new cabinet is Baron Shimpei Goto, a member of the house of peers and a cabinet member during the Terauchi regime.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Japanese embassy here did not receive official confirmation of the death of Premier Hara until 10 o'clock this morning. At that hour an official notification was received from the foreign office in Tokio.

The embassy cancelled all social engagements of the ambassador and the Japanese delegates to the armament conference indefinitely. A reception, which was to have been given tonight by Ambassador Shidehara was the first function to be cancelled.

Dispatches received today by Japanese newspaper correspondents here to attend the armament conference, stated that the assassin of Premier Hara had been identified as a Japanese youth and not a Korean as at first believed. The boy's name was given as Yasuoka. The dispatch stated that it was believed the boy was a political fanatic and had been stimulated to his act by older men.

Disclose Widespread Plot To Corrupt Dry Officials

Bootleggers Failing to Reach Agents With Money Instigate Reign of Terror Against Officers, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes Discovers.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Bootleggers' plots to corrupt dry law officials with bribes and thus tear down the morale of the federal enforcement machine, were officially disclosed today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Failing in their efforts to "buy" dry agents or officials, illicit booze promoters then inaugurated reigns of terror that culminated in the killing or serious maiming of federal agents, Haynes declared.

"They shoot dry agents down like dogs," Haynes said. "Bootleggers and moonshiners repeatedly set traps for them. Still or bootleg stores are protected with high voltage electrical devices. Agents in many sections are taking their lives in their own hands when venturing into bootleggers' dens or moonshine territory."

Prohibition officials and agents are almost daily being tempted with cash bribes in some instances running as high as five times the amount of their annual salary, the commissioner said.

Haynes charged that some of the leading bootleggers of the country are "men of wealth and influence," who systematically try to "seduce and corrupt" government agents.

"In the liquor traffic there are unscrupulous men with unlimited means who are constantly trying to debauch our men," Haynes said.

"In New York recently two of our agents turned down an offer of $50,000 each, with promise of double those sums, merely to a k. permits authorizing withdrawal of whiskey from bonded warehouses."

STRIKE PLANS WILL AWAIT WORD FROM UNION PRESIDENT

Walkout of Workers In Western Pennsylvania Now Uncertain.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 5.—Whether the strike of miners of district No. 5, United Mine Workers, embracing most of western Pennsylvania and approximately 40,000 men called for Monday at midnight will be carried out or be held up, all depended today upon word from international president John L. Lewis at Indianapolis.

President R. R. Gibbons, of district No. 5, put it up to Lewis and is awaiting the latter's reply. In view of the court action in Chicago Friday it was uncertain this morning whether another meeting of union heads would be held today but there were indications that such a meeting would be held.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5.—Miners in the western Pennsylvania coal fields were instructed by International President John L. Lewis, today to remain at work unless the operators had taken any action to impair existing agreements. The mine workers head, who arrived at his home here late last night, also sent similar instructions by wire to all districts, advising them of the actions taken by the U. S. court of appeals at Chicago.

GREATEST HERO IS WHITE HOUSE GUEST

Washington, Nov. 5.—Sergeant Samuel Woodfill, selected by General Pershing as the greatest war hero of them all, was presented to President Harding yesterday and congratulated by the chief executive on his war record. As he left the executive offices he met Representative Kahn, chairman of the house military committee, who also told him that the whole country would always remember him with gratitude.

Sergeant Woodfill was brought to the White House by Senator Ernest of Kentucky, in whose state he is now stationed. Sergeant Woodfill later was accorded an unusual reception at the house. The sergeant, sitting alone in the members gallery arose, saluted and then bowed as he was introduced to the house by Representative Benham.

Representative Woodruff, at one time Sergeant Woodfill's commanding officer, in announcing that he would introduce a bill to give the hero his former rank of captain, declared that nobody closely associated with him knew of his exploits until after the issuance of general orders, and that the sergeant's one regret was that he had not killed a few more of the enemy.

TO START INQUIRY INTO CHARGES

Washington, November 5.—After an other period of sensational turmoil in the chamber, the Senate yesterday adopted a resolution of inquiry into the charges of Senator Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, Democrat, that American soldiers were executed in France without trial, and the inquiry will be under way Monday.

FORMER XENIAN IS GIVEN NEWSPAPER PRAISE ON ACTION

The Bakersfield Californian contains the following tribute to Fred E. Fishing, formerly of this city, now advertising manager for Redlick's department store in Bakersfield.

"Fred E. Fishing, advertising manager at Redlick's has become a new light in national advertising. 'Several months ago, Fishing developed an idea that he thought would be useful to the great American Tobacco company as a feature in the publicity campaign of one of their products.

"After a careful study and a very thorough analysis of the idea, the finished product was submitted to the chief of the advertising bureau of the American Tobacco company. 'At a meeting of the board of directors last week in New York City in conjunction with the directors of publicity, Fishing's idea was adopted in its entirety.

"Fishing is a member of the Progressive Business Club of Bakersfield and recently became a member of the advertising group of the National Retail Dry Goods Association."

WILBERFORCE HAS PROMINENT GUEST

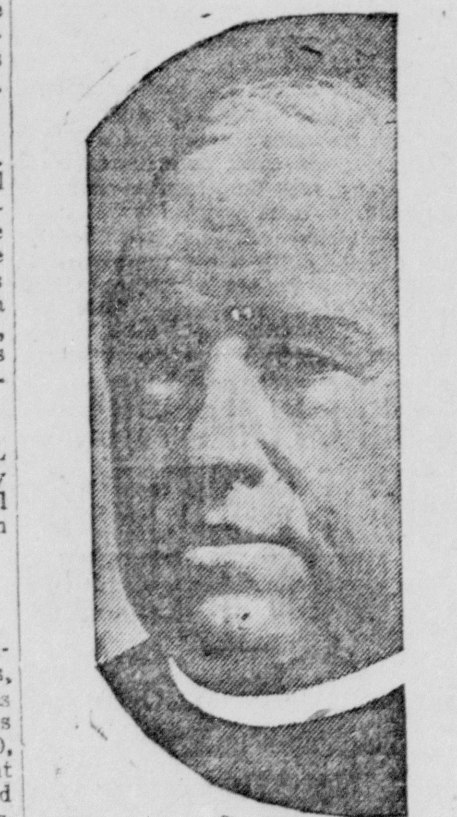

The Young Women's Christian Association at Wilberforce University was honored Thursday evening by two very distinguished visitors in the persons of Mademoiselle L. Bidgrain of Paris, France, Secretary of the World's Christian Students Federation in France, and Miss Juliette Derriott, one of the National Secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. of the United States.

Mademoiselle Bidgrain reached New York Monday, spending a day with the National Committee of the Y. W. C. A., and came direct to Wilberforce and joined Miss Derriott. The distinguished speaker from abroad delivered an interesting address to the members of the two local Y's and students in Galloway Hall, Thursday night, giving a history of the organization of the World's Student Federation in Austria and Russia. Mademoiselle Bidgrain will visit the various institutions of higher learning for the purpose of studying the work among the students.

At the close of the meeting the cabinet and advisory board of the Y. W. C. A. gave a banquet in the dining room of Mitchell Hall in honor of their visitors. Miss Rubie Hunter delivered the welcome address and the response was made by Mr. J. C. Huser, President of the Y. W. C. A. The guests were Pres. and Mrs. J. A. Gregg, Supt. and Mrs. W. M. Berry, Mrs. J. T. Washington, Dean of the Women, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. B. J. Highwarden and others.

OHIO FARMERS WILL LOSE ON POTATOES

Columbus, Nov. 5.—Prediction that the average potato crop yield in Ohio this year probably will be from 55 to 60 bushels, as against 100 bushels, per acre, last year and that farmers in many counties will hardly "get their seed back" is made by C. J. West, Federal crop statistician here. Heaviest yields probably will occur in extreme northern counties. Eastern counties report fairly good yields. Yields in western counties range, it is estimated, from 25 to 45 bushels per acre.

MARRIAGES FALL OFF IN MANHATTAN REPORT INDICATES

New York.—Marriages are falling off in Manhattan.

This is true in spite of a recent bulletin from Washington that statistics for 1921 are expected to prove this a record year for weddings in the United States.

Reports say that 1,000,000, perhaps 1,500,000 marriages will establish a new high mark for this country.

But New York City and surrounding boroughs show no such increase in the number of brides and grooms.

The numerous marriages themselves are said to be of great benefit to business conditions, since man and woman approaching the new estate and after entering it spend money lavishly for clothes, furs, jewelry and millinery. They also patronize hotels and theatres and bring joy to the hearts of all those who serve them on their honeymoon path.

But whether marriages boom business, or better business booms weddings, is a matter of conjecture.

However that may be, it is curious to note New York has not joined in the merry procession in vast numbers.

In 1920 records show 32,324 licenses were issued here. During the nine months of that year, ended in September, 32,205 permits to wed had been given out. Only 31,495 were issued this year up to the end of September.

Michael J. Cruise, New York's official Cupid, said:

"It's the housing situation. Many of the young couples reveal by their conversation while here getting licenses and going through the ceremony that they expect to go back to live in the homes of the parents, often with the girl's folks, and sometimes in the home of the bridegroom.

"This is a bad condition. It does not make happiness. It starts a new life within the dwelling of a former generation, under the inspection of older relatives.

"I believe that many young men have established themselves in New York in business who are unable to take a bride elsewhere to make up a new start, and rather than put up with a makeshift type of house-keeping and not have a home of their own they postpone marriage. 'Give New York City enough living quarters and see the marriage rate go up.

"That is why outside of this great congested city increased marriages are taking place with the coming of easier times.

June, 1920, found this department with 5,002 licenses issued, while the same month of 1921 brought only 1,940 demands for certificates.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics announces that in these last nine months of 1921, only 44,811 marriages were recorded as taking place. In 1920 the bureau files show during the same period there were 48,983 weddings.

These figures concern not only New York City but surrounding boroughs.

June was a notorious laggard this year, since this department has record of but 7,035 matrimonial unions for 1921, as against 9,368 in 1920.

J. H. Gibbons, of this bureau, said regarding the reported high marriage rate announced through Washington:

"We really don't know how there can be even as many as we record in New York and surrounding boroughs. The cost of living, of course is coming down somewhat. But rents are still high; 1917 was a big year—before going off to war many young men got married. Then there was a lull for a time. 1919 and 1920 when the men came back were periods of readjustment and readjustment, so there were many marriages in those times."

But in all civilized countries it is said that all previous matrimonial records have been broken, excepting only Germany, where the increase is normal.

In England, despite the rumored shortage of eligible men, 400,000 couples married last year while only 100,000 wed in the previous 12 months. France and Italy also claim a record rush to give up single blessedness.

Nevertheless most countries, it is said, show an increase in applications for divorce. Many of the unhappy unions are attributed to the haste to wed which antedated or accompanied the war. But France and Germany are worried about the tendency to sever marital bonds since an increase in marriage and greater population are the desires of these war-ridden lands.

BANK CLEARINGS GAIN OVER WEEK

New York, Nov. 5.—Bank clearings in the United States for the week ending November 3 as reported by Bradstreet's Journal aggregate $7,281,832,000 against $6,169,140,000 last week and $7,596,399,000 in this week last year. Clearings at some of the principal cities follow:

Just as sounds blend in one harmonious chord, so must the design, material and execution of a Memorial harmonize if the whole is to present itself as one pleasing unit.

As specialists in Memorial Art we place at your disposal a service which will assure you a Memorial correct in every detail.

A complimentary book illustrating some of the Memorials we have erected will be mailed upon request.

WOMAN AVOIDS AN OPERATION

Hope Nearly Gone, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her

Star, N. C.—"My monthly spells gave me so much trouble, sometimes they would last two weeks. I was treated by two doctors without relief and they both said I would have to have an operation. I had my trouble four years and was unfit to do anything, and had given up all hope of ever getting any better. I read about your medicine in the Primitive Baptist paper and decided to try it. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for about seven months and now I am able to do my work. I shall never forget your medicine and you may publish this if you want to as it is true."—Mrs. J. F. HURSEY, Star, N. C.

Here is another woman who adds her testimony to the many whose letters we have already published, proving that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound often restores health to suffering women even after they have gone so far that an operation is deemed advisable. Therefore it will surely pay any woman who suffers from ailments peculiar to her sex to give this good old fashioned remedy a fair trial.

Does This Appeal to You?

Yet how many people realize what it means to know any other surroundings than that of the four walls of an apartment or a dingy back yard. In this paper you now hold are advertised nearly every day homes similar to the above.

Don't delay another day in deciding upon the home that is to be yours. Delay only means more money frittered away for worthless rent receipts. To save, to enjoy happiness to its fullest extent, buy a home. Follow closely the Home Bargains listed in the Want Ads. If the home you want isn't there today—look for it tomorrow or the next day.

ENGLAND PUBLIC LITTLE CONCERNED OVER ARMS MEET

London.—The prospect of reduction of armaments is giving pause to many long-headed thinkers in Britain.

Generally speaking, the public, except the more active leaders of Labor, does not care particularly about the disarmament issue. For centuries, since, in fact, the first English—being of Teutonic extraction—came to this island from Schleswig on the heels of the departing Romans, about fifteen hundred years ago, plain John Citizen has been accustomed to bearing without noisy complaint, the burdens of arms and armaments and of wars. It is a habit.

That portion of the population which might—with apologies—be referred to as the intelligentsia is beginning to weigh the pros and cons and the dim distance consequences of reduction of armaments. The subject is weighted with a question mark.

We have to think that only France fears Germany. Fear is perhaps a strong word. But Britain also is concerned about Germany, prostrate as she seems to be.

The reason is the conviction, abetted by experts in the science of warfare, that the next war will be beyond present imaginings, one of machines and chemistry.

Britain is finding that she is very close to the Continent of Europe. The one-time protective Channel has shrunk to the size of a bigish river. Its strategic importance as a bulwark of safety is diminishing.

Moreover, we are told, the next war will be one of industrial resources, and the master warrior of the future will be the one who can weld a nation into an industrial fighting machine, whereof the most far-flung departments of an industry become as essentially a fighting unit as the battalion of artillery.

Despite her industrial supremacy in certain restricted lines, Britain is not an all-around industrial nation. Science hasn't the same standing as it has in Germany, or even in the United States.

The opinion is growing that restriction of the generally accepted form of armaments—guns, ships, aeroplanes, masses of men, etc.—will result in the secret devoting of science to new methods of warfare. That, while nations ostensibly disarm, such nations as have the power of control and direction of their industrial development will quietly build it, in time of peace, toward the end that it shall be convertible to war use instantaneously. Germany, above all others in Europe is such a nation.

GERMANS CONQUER AIR. Germany is defeated and helpless. Yet, it is pointed out, she had progressed farther in aeronautics than any other nation, and she is developing this science still further on a commercial basis, within the limits which the treaty allows. Also, Germany's monopoly in certain industries essential to warfare is such that Britain is making frantic efforts to encourage such key industries here by high protective tariffs. The anxiety of some officials has been so great in this respect that they have just listed dolls' eyes among the favored and protected categories, favoring the satirical plaudits of the Opposition press.

With talk of reduction of armaments in the air, just a hint of the old pre-war and war-time theory of the German as a superman in science and the science of warfare is creeping back into the public prints. Just a hint, but it is enough to make some influential men "lean over backward" on the question of disarmament.

The question in some minds hereabouts might be paraphrased thus: If limitation of the known methods of warfare accelerates development of new methods and gives the highly organized industrial nation a running start toward victory, shouldn't the subject be approached with the most extreme caution?

RETIREMENT OF MELLON DEMANDED

Washington, Nov. 5.—The retirement of Secretary Mellon, "as the fiscal head of the government," was demanded in the senate today by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, in charging that Mellon had "brazenly and impudently, laid down the principle that wealth will not, and cannot be taxed to bear its full and fair share of taxation."

FOUR HUNGARIANS HALED INTO COURT; SEASON NOT OPEN

The arrest of four men, all Hungarians, by the Sheriff and deputies on charges of violation of the hunting laws, brings to mind the fact that the open season for hunting rabbits does not begin until November 15.

Three of the men arrested were charged with hunting out of season, while the fourth was charged with hunting without a license. They were released from Magistrate J. E. Jones' court, Saturday on $300 bond each. When they appeared in court they were unable to make Magistrate Jones or Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson understand them and even an interpreter had little success.

The rabbit season opens November 15 and ends January 1, 1922, it being necessary however to obtain a 1922 license to shoot the cottontails on the first day of the new year.

The rabbits may be killed any day except Sunday, and each hunter is limited to ten rabbits. Shooting rabbits is allowed only from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset.

The use of ferrets in hunting rabbits is prohibited by the hunting laws.

CEDARVILLE MAN CALLED BY DEATH

Harvey Jeffrey, of Cedarville, died at the Miami Valley Hospital Dayton, Friday morning, death being due to obstruction of the bowels. He was ill about a week and taken to the hospital Tuesday, but his condition was such that an operation could not be performed.

Mr. Jeffrey is survived by his wife and five children, Charles, Frank, Martha and William Jeffrey, of Cedarville and Nettie, of Dayton. The body was brought to the Nagley undertaking establishment here Friday and was taken from there to the home of Charles Jeffrey in Cedarville.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the Reformed Church, O. S., Cedarville with burial at Massies Creek Cemetery.

NEIGHBORS PREVENT SPREAD OF FIRE

Neighbors who formed a bucket brigade, succeeded in saving a part of a straw stack containing about 10 tons of hay, on the farm of L. B. Atkinson, on the Stone road, which was badly damaged by fire early, Saturday morning.

The cause of the fire could not be determined, but it is thought that children playing about the stack with matches set the straw afire. The exact amount of the blaze has not been estimated. The farm is occupied by a man named Ellison.

MORE DIFFERENCES ARISE IN EUROPE

London, Nov. 5.—Fresh differences are arising between Great Britain and France over Turkey. It was learned this afternoon that the British foreign office is preparing a note for transmission to Paris protesting against concessions made by France to the Turkish nationalists in the treaty recently concluded between those two parties. Foreign office officials admit that the situation is "capable of serious developments." Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary held a conference with Colonel De St. Aulaire the French ambassador last night.

CHARGES WILL BE DISPROVED—WEEKS

Washington, Nov. 5.—Secretary of War Weeks today declared that he is confident that all of the charges made against the army by Senator Watson of Georgia, will be disproved.

Referring to statements alleged to have been made by Senator Watson reflecting upon army nurses, the secretary said:

"No decent man would make such charges against a class of people, and I measure my words when I say that."

Secretary Weeks conferred with Senator Wadsworth relative to the investigation of the charges to be made by a senate committee. He said that army officers would testify before the committee if called.

STUDENTS INJURED ON WAY TO GAME

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Four persons were seriously injured, one so badly he is expected to die, and eight others seriously hurt when an automobile truck carrying 42 Fordham university students bound from New York to Washington to witness a football game with Georgetown university, crashed into the Conowingo river bridge about 28 miles north of Baltimore today and dropped thirty feet into the river.

The most seriously injured was the driver of the truck. He was not expected to live.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Subject to Election Nov. 8, 1921

JOHN W. HEDGES
Candidate for Trustee, Xenia Twp.

"PRETTIEST GIRL IN ENGLAND" SEES U. S. AS FIELD FOR SUCCESS.

Miss Cecilia Bevan, 1922

A girl has a hundred per cent better chance in America than in any other country in the world," declared Miss Cecilia Bevan, nineteen year old beauty of London, who is said to be the most beautiful girl in England. The speaker recently arrived in New York from England.

"From now on there will be no more England for me. I will be an American citizen forever and ever. America is the only country—there's more life more 'pep,' more ambition in Americans. Cecilia entered many beauty contests in England and almost invariably carried off first honors.

STOCKS
The market has been irregular and sometimes reactionary notwithstanding the preponderance of underlying bullish influences. The public is slow to resume speculative operations. Railroad stocks await a settlement on the wage-rate issue. Numerous advices of a favorable character come from industry among them car loadings and October bookings of the steel corporation as estimated. The monetary situation is steadily easing, witness the continued rise in the Federal Reserve ratio and the very heavy oversubscription to the Treasury's latest issue of certificates at reduced rates of interest. No prolonged upward movement is seen in the near future and until the demand for stocks runs well ahead of the supply, but the broad outlook is distinctly promising.

GRAIN
Wheat is subject to rapid price fluctuations. Sentiment for the immediate present has been bearish wheat declining to a new low level for the year during the week past. Export demand continues slow in the main. Great Britain is apparently waiting for the Argentine crop to appear. Some flour mills in the South are reported closed, owing to a slow demand for flour. Canadian wheat has declined to about a parity with domestic spring, freight and duty paid, and introduces a marked element of competition. The visible supply decreased noticeably about the time prices touched their new low point. A good many traders are only waiting for outstanding bullish developments before espousing the buyers' side. Corn and oats will probably continue to move within a narrow range.

LIVESTOCK
Whenever the pressure of supply is relaxed in any branch of trade, prices advance showing a healthy undertone. The quality and condition of cattle have deteriorated. Many cornfed steers show the results of abbreviated feeding. The heavy movement in Southwestern grassers is expected to abate and there is evidence that the amount of beef marketed from the Northwest will be limited in volume. The movement of stockers and feeders forced hog prices down. Lowest prices for the winter packing season are expected within the month. Live mutton is subject to fluctuation, while possessed of fair recuperative powers.

COTTON
Too much cotton has come on a narrow and sensitive market, depressing prices and inspiring bearish sentiment. Constructive factors are not absent. Among them are exports 700,000 bales above last year, statements that the world has not more than 14,000,000 bales of spinable cotton against an average yearly need of 18,000,000 bales, healthy domestic consumption, and possible restriction of yield next year by boll weevil and growers' concerted action. A stiffening of prices would occasion no surprise.

WOOL
Buying recently has centered in the medium and lower grade wools, which seem about to receive large consideration from the mills. Manufacturers are looking for lower priced wools to go into, lower-priced clothing. Foreign markets continue very firm. The strife between buyers and sellers of carpet wools has not ceased. The carpet mills are well supplied and take their opportunity to exert pressure on the market.

METALS
Steel mills are steadily if gradually, expanding operations and export prospects are brightening. Pig iron demand is moderate but steady. The uncertainty about freight rates is a damper on the market.

AGRICULTURE
National farm organization officials have discussed perpetuation of the War Finance corporation, which under the present emergency measure ceases to function on July 1, 1922. Eugene Meyer, the chairman, believes that the corporation will have served its full purpose by that time and can withdraw, leaving the field to private agencies. It is neither desirable nor necessary that the War Finance corporation become a permanent affair—an institution bequeathed to posterity. Its life is transient because, presumably it arose to fill a transient need. Private agencies, conspicuously the banks, must fit themselves to discharge its functions and afford the farmers relief in seasons of financial stress.

The War Finance corporation has borne the peak load. Whether private agencies will be able and willing to cope with the situation by July 1 is a question answerable only in the light of future developments. Cooperative banks may ultimately share the burden, but as yet they have made no appreciable headway. Private banks should be fully capable of financing agriculture, although they have not always shown this capability. In all events, the financial powers of the country, government or private must make adequate provision for the farmer's needs.

Farmers are inclined to hold their corn this fall and winter, whenever their finances permit, and send it to the market "on the hoof." Their cue is to hold. Nevertheless a substantial traffic in corn is assured for this winter under the encouragement of lower freight rates. Following disposal of a large part of the wheat crop and before corn had begun to move in large volume the western roads sustained heavy losses in the movement of grain.

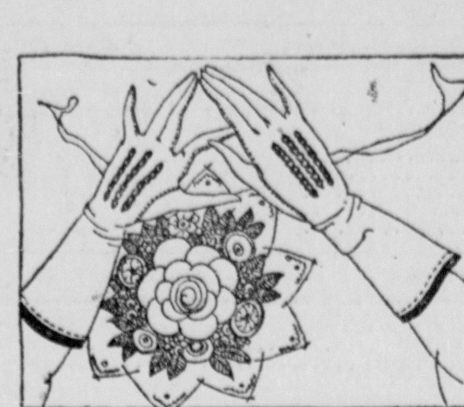

Southern cotton growers are much interested in cooperative marketing, judging from the recent convention of the American Cotton Association. Wool pooling has achieved success and cotton growers are alive to the advantage of holding it collectively against a rising market, thus pocketing the middleman's profits. The cotton growers are planning restriction of the acreage again next year with a view to keeping prices up. The restriction of yield was a dispensa- at least partly voluntary, while the restriction of yield was a dispensa- at least partly voluntary, while the restriction of yield was a dispensa-

The use of corn as a fuel is condemned by most farm authorities, wherever coal is available at any reasonable price. Corn is not primarily a fuel and will not develop heat in as satisfactory and economical a way as coal or wood.

NORTH DAKOTA RECANTS ITS UNSOUND IDEALISM.

By B. C. FORBES.

Unless we had ideals life would be humdrum. Our ideals are the shining goals we press on toward. They are our beacon lights, our guiding stars. Without ideals we could only drift in a desultory way.

But there are ideals and ideals. In this work-a-day world it is important that we set up ideals that are worth pressing toward, and that we do not waste effort in furthering ideals that are unsound, visionary and impossible.

Thoughtful American citizens have followed with close interest the governmental experiments of North Dakota. Several years ago Socialistic ideas began to gain popularity there. A man by the name of Townley became leader of what developed into an important political movement. Farmers galore flocked to his standard. His party, which became known as the Non-Partisan League, finally got into power.

The Non-Partisan League set out to show how to run a State in the interests of the people, and how to put capitalists where they belong. The Bank of North Dakota was organized along novel lines; all State and county regulations were formulated to make it the dominating banking power of the State. State flour elevators and State grain mills were devised. State bonds were, of course, floated to finance these and other projects conceived by Townley and his followers. North Dakota was to be a utopia for the common people.

Today Townley is under jail sentence. The voters have "re-called" the Non-Partisan League Governor and other leading League officials and have elected in their stead opponents of the League. The Bank of North Dakota got into trouble long ago, having found that it was easy enough to lend money with lavish hand to farmers and others, but that it was another thing to try to collect. Townley's ideal has proved a disastrous delusion.

What the world needs is not more totally impractical idealists, but more idealism on the part of practical men.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL FAVOR RELIEF FROM COMPETITIVE ARMAMENT.

British delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armaments will go to Washington resolved that, short of compromising the safety of the Empire or its sea security, they will go to almost any length to meet other great naval Powers in a mutual and proportionate effort to relieve their people from the burden of competitive armament.

That declaration was made by Lord Lee of Fareham, First Lord of the British Admiralty, and one of the official delegates of his country, who arrived on the Olympic with other delegates to the conference from Italy, China and Japan.

Referring to the World War, Lord Lee said he had been convinced for years that Germany meant mischief, and added the lessons learned from that war were not confined to those learned from Germany. In a prepared statement, Lord Lee said:

The world has learned a wider lesson still that militarism, wherever situated and however entrenched, is a menace to civilization and must be given notice to quit.

That is what brings us to Washington, and if, as I trust, we all go there in a spirit not merely of hope and sincerity, but of fixed determination to convert the President's lofty aspiration into a practical working agreement, the war will not have been fought in vain.

WELCOME WORD FROM THE SOUTH.

Ninety colored school principals and supervisors were sent this summer from South Carolina to the summer schools of Hampton and Tuskegee. Through their summer work for teachers these two schools are influencing Negro life all over the South. Both institutions are in close and sympathetic touch with every State Department of Education in the Southern States, and their thorough work, their inspiring ideals, their gospel of intelligent work, high moral standards, and inter-racial good will are bearing fruit in hundreds of country communities. They stand for opportunity to the Negro to the full extent of his ability, and are showing all over the South that the Negro's development promotes the interests of both races.

STRENGTHENING THE ANKLE

Most of us at this season of the year are regretfully laying aside our low summer shoes and purchasing high shoes for winter wear. If your ankles are weak I would advise you, instead of wearing high shoes, to purchase yourself some woolen stockings which will keep the ankles and legs warm, and to go on wearing Oxford shoes until the weather becomes so cold that even this is not sufficient protection. But for most of us the weather is sufficiently mild to make low shoes and wool stockings practical for many weeks to come.

If you want to reduce the ankles and to strengthen them, wear low heeled Oxfords that fit snugly under the instep. This gives the ideal support to the foot. Then massage to strengthen the ankles still more.

The massage is only a kneading and rubbing motion with both hands, over the foot and up the ankle to the calf of the leg. It exercises and strengthens the little muscles and it stimulates the circulation of the blood.

Besides the massage there is one special little exercise which you should practice. Sit on a hair or stool with the shoes off, point the toes out, stretching the foot and leg as far as you can and tensing all the muscles of the foot, ankle and calf of the leg. If you stretch out as far as possible, you cannot fail to make these muscles tense; at the same time the toes will curl downwards. Then relax the foot and draw it back so that you stretch out the heel and not the toe. This brings the foot into position it normally occupies when you are standing. Relax again and repeat 20 or 30 times.

J. A. K.—Senna paste is made by mixing a half of a pound each of raisins and figs and one ounce of senna leaves. Chop them very fine and put in a stew pan with a pound of sugar. Simmer slowly for 20 minutes, then pour out on oiled paper in a long baking tin to cool. Take a piece about an inch square at bedtime and afterwards regulate the amount by the effect.

W. W. W.—The ends of bobbed hair may be kept fluffed out by using the soft kid curlers. Do not roll any more of the hair than is necessary to hold it on the curlers.

F. S.—For your coated tongue, try the "Senna paste" described above in advance to "J. A. K." It is an old-time remedy for stimulating the system.

Young Mother.—Consult your doctor about this condition. If you had sent an address, I should have been pleased to have mailed you a reply, but there is not space in this column to do justice to such an inquiry.

B. B. E.—Bobbed hair is still worn very much, so you would not be out of style if you chose it, but it is not chosen as often now as it was a year or two ago.

SPEAKING OF DISARMAMENT

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The young lady clerks at Jobe Brothers and Company had a royal good time last night when their fellow clerk, Mr. George Bocklett, entertained them at his home on Center street.

It is rumored that the congregation of the Presbyterian Church of this city, is contemplating quite an improvement to their edifice by the building of an addition to the rear of the building to be used as a Sunday School room.

Mr. George Galloway has disposed of his stock of drugs and has gone out of the drug business. He has been engaged in business in Xenia for about twenty years past and is thus somewhat of a veteran in the service. Mrs. H. E. Kiernan and children, John and Grace, returned yesterday, from a pleasant visit of a few days with friends in Cincinnati.

The new Court House has assumed a finished aspect since the windows have been put in and the tower completed.

One of the best catches that the Xenia police have made in several years was landed this morning when they arrested a man who last night burglarized homes in Spring Valley and who bears all the ear marks of being a bad man and all-around thief.

GOUT

There is a relation between some occupations and gout—painters are prone, also decorators, plumbers, printers, lead-pipe workers, white-smiths, tin workers, workers in lead generally, butlers, cabmen, draymen, longshoremen and the like.

Among the purin-free, or nearly purin-free foods are: Milk, eggs, white bread, biscuits, hominy, tapioca, cornstarch, rice, farina, sugar and syrup, jam and marmalade, cake (except with coffee or chocolate flavoring), cream soups, potatoes, (eaten in moderation), cauliflower, cabbage, lettuce, eggplant, nuts, cheese, ice cream, custard, or coconut pie. Boiled meats, especially if boiled in two waters, and boiled fish, are preferable, because the purins are thus, to a large extent removed from them. From such substances as these one's physician will prescribe a dietary when one has either an acute attack or has premonitions of an attack of gout impending.

The gouty must abstain from any food which they have learned from experience will not agree with them. Plenty of water must be drunk because no food is digested or absorbed that is not ultimately in liquid form. No one prone to gout should eat sweetbreads, kidneys, liver, meat extracts, salt fish, roe caviar, or highly seasoned food.

Among The Churches

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH

You do not have to "apply at the office" for admission into our church plant. No signs "Keep Out." "Dangerous" will prevent you from coming into the fellowship with the Bible School, Church services, Young People's Societies, and other organizations of the congregation. "Come Right In," and we will welcome you. Our motto "You Need Us and We Need You." is always in order. Sunday services as follows:

Bible School: 9:15 a. m. Earl Eavey, Supt. Men's Class taught by the pastor. Morning worship 10:30 o'clock, topic of the sermon "Is a Warless World Possible? What will be the Outcome of the Disarmament Conference?" A real scriptural message on the subject.

The Group evening Evangelistic service at 7:00 o'clock. The four churches uniting are the First U. P., First Baptist, Trinity M. E. and the First Reformed. The meeting for this week to be held in the First Reformed Church. Rev. E. W. Middleton will preach on "Why the Churches in Xenia Need a Revival of Religion." Special music Soprano solo. Song services led by Mr. Orville Palmer, from Dayton. A Gospel male chorus will also sing.

MAPLE CORNERS REFORMED
The sessions of the Bible School at 2:00 p. m. the study of the international lesson. Preaching service at 3:00 p. m. You do not have to go forty miles to church on horse back and afraid of Indians as our forefathers did. Say you, brother farmer, gas up and grease up that four or six cylinder sedan or limousine and go to church. Feed your soul as well as you feed your stock. And give God a chance with the eternal qualities of your being. Come to worship God, come hear a message from the Word of God. Come and pray as a spiritual exercise of your immortal soul. Special music at this service. Come and welcome.

LAST RITES PAID
FOR MRS. CLEMENS

Funeral services for Mrs. Cora M. Clemens, wife of Daniel Clemens were held at the late home at 10 Illinois avenue, Dayton, Friday afternoon at two o'clock. The services were largely attended, and were in charge of the Rev. W. T. Mabon, pastor of the Wayne Avenue United Presbyterian church, who was assisted by the Rev. Horby, of the Walnut Hill Christian Church, of Dayton.

A solo, "Some Day We'll Understand," was sung by James Connell. Pallbearers were four brothers of Mrs. Clemens, Edward, Harry, Arcl and Marion Bone, and two brothers-in-law, H. C. De Laverne and S. Werner. Interment was made at Woodland Cemetery in this city.

FORD CUTS RATES ON D. T. & I. ROAD

Lima, O., Nov. 5.—A cut in passenger rates from about four cents to three cents straight a mile was announced by Henry Ford, Friday through the Lima office, effective on the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad November 20.

Reduction means a decrease of about 25 per cent in fares between stations.

A slash in freight rates is soon to be announced, it is said.

Injun Summer In Ohio

(By W. A. PAXON.)

"Injun summer, injun summer!" Comes along this time o' year. Although there's not an "injun" in a hundred miles o' here, Except the good, dead "injuns" As I've always heard it said That the "injuns" that are good Were the injuns that were dead.

Well there's lots o' them about here All underneath the ground And the people hauling gravel Find their bones in every mound; And along about October Comes this lovely summery weather That folks call "Injun Summer" Injuns or not, we know not whether.

But perhaps the "Great white Spirit" Who rules o'er earth and sky Watches o'er his wand'ring children Whether they live or die, And in token of remembrance Of the many sleeping "Braves" He sends this lovely injun summer To spread leaves above their graves.

Who knows?

Jamestown, Ohio, October, 1921.

"HE WILL GIVE THEM BACK"

(Author Unknown)

We are quite sure That He will give them back—bright, pure, and beautiful. We know he will but keep Our own and his until we fall asleep. We know he does not mean To break the strands reaching between The Here and There. He does not mean—though Heaven be fair— To change the spirits entering there, That they forget That they are lost to me and you. The eyes upraised and wet, The lips too still for prayer, The mute despair.

He will not take The spirits which He gave, and make The glorified so new That they are lost to me and you. They will receive Us—you and me—and be so glad To meet us that when most I would grow sad I just begin to think about that glad news.

And the day When they shall tell us all about the way That they have learned to go— Heaven's pathways show.

My lost, my own, and I Shall have so much to see together by and by. I do believe that just the same sweet face, But glorified, is waiting in the place Where we shall meet, if only I Am counted worthy in that by and by.

I do believe that God will give a sweet surprise To the strained, saddened eyes, And that his Heaven will be Most glad, most filled through with joy for you and me.

As we have suffered most, God never made Spirit for spirit, answering shade for shade. And placed them side by side— So wrought in one, though separate, mystified. And meant to break The quivering threads between, When we shall wake, I am quite sure, we will be very glad That for a little while we were so sad

SURPRISE VISITORS.

When I decide to visit friends I write and tell them so; and if from them a roar ascends, I wilt, and do not go. "We have the flu to beat the band," my cousin wrote me back, when I informed him that I planned to visit at his shack. "The smallpox has us in its grip," replied my loving niece, "so do not make your threatened trip, but let us die in peace." And thus I give them every chance to dodge impending woe, when I, in pomp and circumstance, to their abodes would go. If they desire to have me there, they'll let me know, I wot, and if they don't it isn't fair to camp upon their lot. For I detest the giddy guys who visit unawares, who think it cunning to surprise poor victims in their lairs. I have a grist of ancient aunts who play this ghastly trick, and when they come my spirit pants to do things with a brick. Oh, one must rail at spiteful fate, and wring his hands and rant, who sees a taxi at the gate discharge a withered aunt. She has a birdcage in her hand, and earmuffs on her ears, and well he knows that she has planned to stay for seven years. If she had only written him that she was breaking loose, he might have had a broken limb, or other good excuse. If you invade another's home uncalled, unadverted, there is a puncture in your dome that should be vulcanized.

PECK'S BAD BOY SPEAKS HIS PIECE:—

Bein' bad don't hurt you. It's what comes afterwards that causes all the grief.

Generally it's your Ma that comes afterwards; and she sure does wave a wicked wand.

You wouldn't say bein' bad is a gift so much as a habit. It grows on you, like a soft spot in an apple.

So a cop ain't much different from the man who peddles apples on a barrow. They both make money by getting rid of bad habits.

But it's the barrow man who gets rid of his first. He seems ashamed of them, and puts them in the bottom of the bag.

Folks say I'm wicked and will go where all bad boys go. Won't they be pleased when they learn I'm in the movies!

But I'm in good company. Irvin S. Cobb is down here, too. He writes my subtitles. Maybe you've heard of my friend Irv. He sometimes gets pieces in the papers—mostly when the regular editors are away on vacation.

That's all. Gotta smash another window now.

WILMINGTON WINS BY BIG SCORE OVER ANTIOCH FRIDAY

On the sloping gridiron adjacent the towers of the Horace Mann school, Friday, Wilmington College football team assembled and at the referee's whistle proceeded to prove why it has now won seven straight games without defeat by walloping Coach Prugh's Antioch eleven 49-0.

Fans after the game expressed themselves as being surprised at the fact that Antioch had held the Quakers to as low a score as it did and were confident that Wilmington did not show the power it has in piling up its excellent record this season. The visitors piled up seven touchdowns, and the kickers never missed an attempt at goal.

Antioch held the Clinton county eleven to one touchdown in the initial quarter, but weakened gradually before the terrific onslaughts of Kurtzhals and Nowsald as the game progressed. These two backfield lads started in the attack of the visitors, while Thompson, Christman and Reardon performed well on the line. For Antioch, "Fuzzy" Vannorsdall, former Central high star, put up the best defensive game of the day until he was toted off the oblong. Bozovsky performed well against handicaps in the backfield.

Kurtzhals ran 48 yards for the first touchdown after Fisher had intercepted a forward pass. Life charges permitted Nowsald to score in the second quarter from the 5 yard line and this lad made the third marker shortly before the end of the half when he circled end for 38 yards. Kurtzhals dashed 70 yards for a touchdown shortly after the opening of the half. Nowsald's 35-yard contribution and a pass Kurtzhals to Charles marked up the next touchdown. A pass Kurtzhals to Reardon put the ball on Antioch's 20 and when Antioch was penalized 15 yards, Kurtzhals crashed through for the sixth touchdown. Kurtzhals intercepted a forward pass on Antioch's 30-yard line and ran for the final touchdown. The line up and summary:

THE DUBIOUS PUTT.

It is said that a good professional can teach with a fair degree of certainty every golf stroke except the putt. That seems to be the one constantly elusive shot. Not long ago Alec Duncan told me an interesting story. It seems that once upon a time the great British quartet of golf masters, Warden, Braid, Taylor and Ray were practicing putting on the green near the club house, and the time was just prior to the start of a famous match. Putting does not seem to play so important a part in the British game as it does this side of the water and rarely indeed are the British golfers of the very first class very good putters.

On this occasion those big golfers were putting less well than usual, when all of a sudden a little girl's voice cried out distinctly—"Oh, Daddy, I can putt better than all of you!"

On this occasion those big golfers were putting less well than usual, when all of a sudden a little girl's voice cried out distinctly—"Oh, Daddy, I can putt better than all of you!"

One day a man can hole anything from any distance, and on another he finds himself constantly missing the tiniest ones. When the uncanny power is there his courage mounts high, but when it vanishes fear and depression seize him. And yet, since it happens that putting is so large a part of the game one can grit his teeth and do his best.

There is one thing true about these shots, and that is, you must hit them. And so just now I am hanging my eye directly over the ball trying to form an imaginary triangle. I am trying to keep my clubhead on the ground more so that I won't copy the stroke. I am working on the theory that if the clubhead is lying on the imaginary line after the stroke the ball should go somewhere near the hole, and if I work on this straight hole as much as possible and evade the danger of not hitting the ball I will putt well. Be sure to have a loose grip on those run up shots.

We count the accuracy of our other shots by feet, but our putts are mostly a matter of inches. It is usually concentrated work in close quarters, and a green a shade to fast or too slow may make or mar our game. Then, too, the work on the putting green can often close successfully a badly played hole, or it can forever destroy, as far as that hole is concerned all the good shots that have gone before.

That is why in its uncertainty we are forever tinkering with this shot. Grips are changed, stance is changed, and new putters invented. For what does it profit a man to drive straight and far down the fairway, to play a faultless second shot, and get nicely on the green in three only to take three more shots before reaching the hole.

Styles BY LENORE

PARIS.

During November there are usually many sales of furs, especially in small pieces, in anticipation of the Thanksgiving Day holidays, so it is well to know the kind of things that are in good style. Nothing makes so becoming a finish to a tailored costume as a scarf of fur, and this season the very newest neck-pieces are shown in combinations of two styles of fur. Incidentally, they are usually the most expensive too.

A long stole of quilted mole is bordered with gray kimmer, accompanied by a kimmer muff. Colors, too, are combined—discreetly—a gray caracul scarf making unto itself diagonal bands of sleek brown kolinsky. These novelties may often be copied at a great saving if one happens across an inexpensive furrier.

In the sketch are illustrations of the smaller neckpieces—a tubular collar of gray kimmer, finished with self material motifs and long tassels; a taupe fox piece, and squirrel chin collar fastened with a ribbon wheel ornament and streamers.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

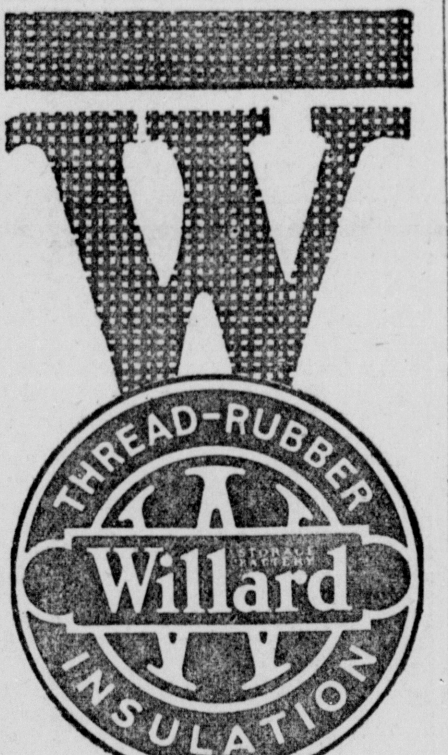

ROOSEVELT'S GRAVE VISITED BY DIAZ

A tribute of respect and homage from Italy to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt was paid by General Armando Vittorio Diaz, head of the Italian army, when he placed a wreath of flowers on the grave of the former President at Oyster Bay. Accompanied by a party of the America and Italian military service, General Diaz, displayed a keen emotion at the memory of Roosevelt. He said: "At the tomb of Roosevelt no speech can be made. Only an expression of the deepest homage I bring from my country. During his life he was adored and at his death he was beloved by everybody." The photo shows General Diaz, saluting, after placing a wreath on the tomb of Roosevelt.

I want to renew Mother's Honey-moon Smile

POSSIBLY it's two-score, maybe three, since you asked that one-best-girl for her hand. You probably can't remember whether there were lilacs or roses near, BUT DO YOU REMEMBER HER SMILE? And, what hard days your "old pal" has put in since she smiled and said "yes." Working from early morn till late at night—helping you weather all your financial storms—how she has labored, right at your side, all these years. Perhaps you could not give her an elaborate honeymoon—GIVE HER THAT HONEYMOON TRIP NOW—there's a happy song in her heart that, if you bring out, will add ten years to the lives of both of you. You can renew her honey-moon smile!

And I Want to Give both You and Mother 10 Extra Years to Enjoy Your Mature Youth

How will I do this, you ask. By having you two go to sunny Florida when winter's icy grip locks your Ohio homes; I want both of you to come away from the howling, bitter winds—the health-wrecking snows and slushes—the sleets and marrow-chilling blizzards. To go to Florida, where that "one sweet girl" can bask in healthful, sunshine—be near the roses and mingle with other folks who are living over again the days of their youth; be with folks who have achieved that golden period known as MATURE YOUTH—folks who are living longer by playing, hunting and fishing.

A Modern Winter Home For Less than Cost of an Ohio Barn

Yes, I want you to come to the garden spot of Florida—on the wide, full-of-fish and pleasurable St. Johns River—near the famous medicinal Green Cove Springs—a short drive from Jacksonville or to ocean picnic spots—yet not too near to get the sea's dreariness.

I want to provide a modern bungalow with running water, electric lights, toilet and bath for this second honey-moon. It will be on an improved street in my model sub-division, which has been laid out by an artist.

RESTAURANT HAT OF SILVER CLOTH WITH A SAUCY ORNAMENT OF PEACOCK PLUMAGE

Ostrich Plumes Over a Yard Long Trail Below the Waistline — Upstanding Ornaments of Burnt Peacock the New Trimming Fad — Paprika Red the Dashing Color for Millinery.

IF little street hats are large in comparison with last year's models, picture hats for formal wear are still larger. Sweeping brims, enormous bows of velvet or ribbon, and ostrich feathers a yard or more in length give the new picture hats the utmost of picture quality. Grace and picturesqueness are now the ideal and, of course, there are exceptions to the rule of large picturesque hats, in arresting small picturesque hats. One of these small hats, the only model on today's page that does not express sweeping grace, is a creation of Jeanne Lanvin's—a fascinating little affair of silver cloth swathed and draped into turban lines and rising high at the front to support an upstanding ornament of oxidized peacock—the very newest whim in feather trimming. The hat is cleverly contrived; the folds of fabric crossing twice across the forehead and the top of the hat, and tucking under at either side where the hat bulges outward behind the ears. The glint of silver cloth with rich blues and greens of peacock plumage is most effective and the little turban is altogether a gem. It is designed for dress wear, of course; and is the sort of hat one dons with a restaurant supper frock.

Paprika A Lively Color
Coral was the bright shade last winter; this year paprika is still brighter. You might miss a coral hat in a crowd of people, but you could never miss a paprika one. The brilliant red is unescapable. Paprika hats are charming with gray or black costumes and a great many costumes this winter will be either gray or black; or a combination of gray with black. A particularly lively little restaurant hat is in roll brim shape, covered entirely with soft, downy little feathers in paprika red. The hat tips forward over the left eye and a feather ornament in the bright paprika shade shoots straight out toward one side. Another fetching turban is of gray astrachan with paprika red patent leather leaves applied all over it. No leaf touches another but the leaves so well cover the hat that very little gray shows. Astrachan is noted on many of the new hats and is a popular trimming for winter coats and suits.

Nothing But Leaves
Nature is represented on the winter millinery not by floral decoration but by leaves alone. All sorts of leaves are used: Oak leaves, maple leaves, grape vine leaves and the long, slim, pointed leaves of lily of the valley. These leaves are made of patent leather, of kid, of silk, of gold and silver tissue, of wired lace, of duvetyne and of felt and they are usually put on the hat in massed effect. Shaded green leaves of pressed and embossed kid are garlanded round a big hat of tan duvetyne shown among today's illusvet with steel nailheads and gray chenille embroidery. Another new way of using ostrich is shown in the stunning hat that suggests the bicorne or admiral shape. But this suggestion is all in the feathers which point out at either side; the hat is merely a round turban with a slightly rolling brim. And paprika is its color and the color of the feathers whose rounded tips are placed flatly against each other at one side, shooting out beyond the hat; while at the other side the quills are joined, the soft, long plumage intermingling and draping over a fur neckpiece. A gorgeous hat this, and one which will be sure to command attention wherever it travels.

Black Hats For Dress-Up Wear
The black picture hat continues to be the favorite for very formal wear, and this season these hats are bigger than ever and trimmed with ostrich that seems richer than ever. The most interesting new way of using ostrich is shown on one of these big black velvet hats of the season. The shape is new also—a dashing cavalier shape which rolls upward jauntily at the front, the flat back part of the brim supporting a curtain of ostrich fringe that descends below the waistline. Now if this hat were white, its wearer might offer the suggestion of a lady standing under a shower bath—but, of course, the hat is black. The long strands of ostrich, knotted together, make one think of the willow plumes a ten seasons ago, but a good many willow plumes would have been needed to give this generous curtain of feathers. Not every woman would have the courage to wear this hat into a restaurant but one cannot deny that it is extremely handsome as a background for the evening frock of steel bead embroidered gray satin; and a white fox neck scarf adds the final touch of picturesqueness.

Bandeaux Under Big Hats
Though the hats of the winter promise to be so very big, they will have no suggestion of top-heaviness. Many of these large shapes are mounted on bandeaux which fit the head closely, just above the line of eyebrows and ears, and the brim rolls outward and upward in graceful fashion. The bandeau is not visible since the brim first slants down over it and then takes its upward movement, but the narrow band keeps the hat from having a settled-down suggestion that would eclipse its wearer. The sombrero hat with trailing fringe has an invisible bandeau of the sort and the shape sets very gracefully on the head. This hat is black and white and there is a black and white frock for which it seems to have been specially designed, so smartly do the two go together. The frock is of black canton crepe with white piping and white baccalite nailheads; the hat is white satin, with a scarf of black crepe de chine that entirely covers the crown and trails downward at the back in an end long enough to twist around the throat and fall over the shoulder. Black and white wool fringe of enormous length trims both ends of the scarf, part of the fringe falling from the hatbrim and part over the front of the frock.

GETTING the NURSERY READY for WINTER

beat. Woodwork should be gone over with a damp cloth and diluted antiseptic solution. No germ should be permitted to find lodgment in the room where the kiddies are to sleep and play through the shut-in winter months. Of course, no proper nursery is situated on the shady side of the house. Sunshine is more important than view where the nursery is concerned. Little folks are happiest when there is something to look at through their window panes; whether the something be a gracious landscape with trees where birds forage, or a city street where traffic keeps things exciting and interesting. But sunshine looking in at the little folks is more important still. Far better let the occasional guest gaze over a narrow court at rows of windows in a brick wall, than sacrifice the children's privileges of sunshine and view to the attractiveness of a guest room.

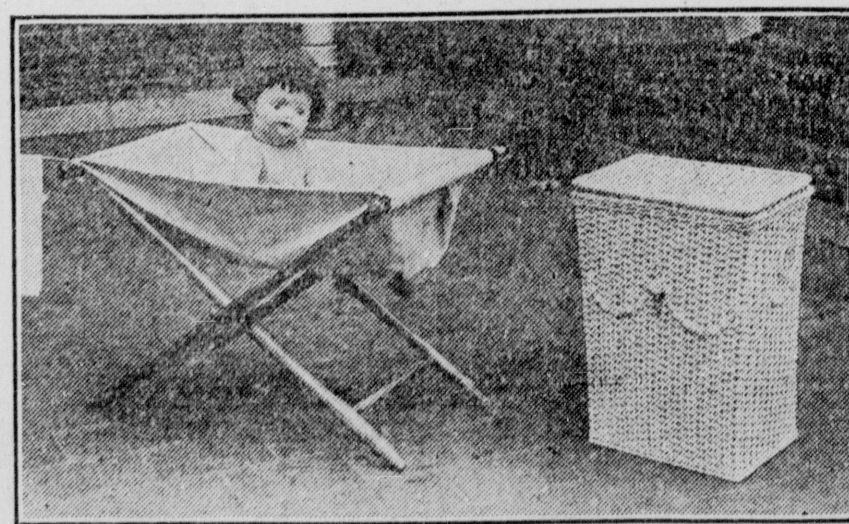

Woodwork in the nursery should always be white. It is more cheerful and more sanitary. Grubby little fingermarks show up on white woodwork, 'tis true; but the nursery woodwork should be often wiped down and cleaned anyway and the grubby fingermarks will plainly attest whether this has been done or not, when servants are slothful. There are hundreds of nursery wallpapers, fascinating patterns that will enthrall childish imagination; and the tints are gay and cheerful, yet dainty and restful to look upon. A border arrangement is most satisfactory; the picture paper on the upper part of the wall, with a moulding separating it from a plain lower part. One mother who had not much money to spend achieved a most charming wall decoration. The whole room was papered in a sunny, pale yellow tint and about five feet from the floor was placed a black moulding made of inch wide black paper pasted along a line first drawn with pencil and ruler. Along this moulding and just above it were pasted black shadow pictures, or silhouettes of interesting objects: Pussy cats, rabbits, puppy dogs, birds, galloping steeds, children at play. The mother made all these interesting silhouettes herself. She collected her pictures from newspapers, magazines, posters, etc., and filled in each picture with black paint; then cut out the painted figure for a silhouette on the wall.

Bunnies, kittens, puppy dogs and birds are to be had aplenty now on all sorts of fabrics—curtain materials, bedspread covers and even juvenile bathgowns. And nursery furniture is decorated in the same intriguing way. A set of furniture of this sort is illustrated; could anything be more ideal for a nursery? The table and chairs are just high enough for people with very short legs, and the small furniture is sturdily built; it will stand almost any amount of banging 'round. The chair seats are of white leatherette which may be wiped off with a damp cloth and made snowy again if anybody happens to spill the jam or upset a pot of cocoa; and table and chairs have panels on which disport gay bunnies. This enchanting set of furniture is of white, and the nursery tea set is white and pink. Br'er Rabbit wears a pink coat to match the tea set.

In most well conducted homes the children are given their evening meal in the nursery and are not allowed to torment tired father at the dinner table though they may come into the dining room with dessert, for a jolly half hour of play with daddy before bedtime. If there is no nurse to look after them, they are made ready for their little beds before the late dinner hour and the jolly before-bedtime play occurs when father arrives home from the office and before he sits down to enjoy his evening meal. So a tea-table and chairs to go with it are part of the furnishing of every good nursery, with all the proper accessories of chinaware, silverware, linen cloths and napkins, big trays for carrying things from the kitchen and so on. And manners are carefully attended to at the nursery repast. Small boys must rise from their small chairs at the proper moments and knives, forks and spoons must be used with discrimination and restraint so that by the time the children graduate to the grown-up dinner table they will know how to behave themselves like little ladies and gentlemen.

Windows in the nursery should always be kept bright and shining, and pots of growing flowers in bright color are delightful on the window sill. One window should be provided with a cushioned bench where little folk may kneel or sit and look out at interesting things: Sunsets, big storms, cloud masses, stars, the flight of birds, the evidences of changing seasons—and most glorious of sights: A new world blanketed with snow.

A big, soft, thick rug is the best floor covering—never a nailed-down carpet that cannot be taken out frequently and cleaned and beaten. If there is always an attendant to watch small children, an open fire is a delightful adjunct in any nursery; with low, deep chairs beside it for storytelling hour. There must be convenient cupboards too where toys may be stowed away; shelves for some toys and a receptacle under the cover of the window bench for those that are not easily broken. A low bookcase there should be for juvenile literature, and a little desk for small people to work at with pencils, crayons or paint-box.

XENIA SNATCHES VICTORY IN LAST MINUTES OF PLAY

Fate and lady luck watched over their favorite children on the gridiron, Friday, when Coach Jerry Satherman's Central High gridders with a grand-stand finish, defeated the Miamiburg High team at Miamiburg 20 to 0, in the seventh victory and sixth shut-out of the season.

The time-piece in the hands of the official timers had ticked off the minutes until just lucky seven the favorite numeral of lady luck remained, and the shadows were deepening on what seemed destined to be a scoreless game, when Satherman's blue and white warriors came into their own, and playing the real football they are capable of, swept the burg eleven off its feet with three touchdowns.

It was Yeakley, sturdy Central high center, who produced the break in the game, that turned the tide in favor of the locals. Miamiburg attempted a punt from her own 25-yard line, when Yeakley dashed through and blocked the pellet as it started its flight. So terrific was his charge that the oval bounded back into the end zone where Smith, Xenia's vigilant left end covered the leather for the initial touchdown. Boxwell kicked goal.

This was all the inspiration the blue and white gridders needed. Miamiburg received, and a pass, Hill to Eagle, veteran flanker, brought the leather to Xenia's ten, where Boxwell cut the runner down. The locals held and taking the ball on downs, Boxwell punted 60 yards to beyond mid-field. The burgers here attempted a pass, and snaring the oval on the 50-yard mark, Boxwell clicked off five of the lime ribbons to the goal line with the intercepted oval. He missed the goal attempt.

Miamiburg received the kick on her 20, and Boxwell again intercepted a pass. Another pass, Boxwell to Fuller netted 25 yards, placing the oval on Miamiburg's 5 yard mark. Here Boxwell tossed the oval over the line of scrimmage to the waiting arms of Cowan for the final marker. Boxwell kicked goal. Playing with Art Currie and Lonnies back in the lineup for the first time since the initial game, the locals were slow on their attack in the opening moments, but in their rejuvenation in the last seven minutes played with all their old time vim. Boxwell played his usual good game, and Lonnies, long-time cripple looked good, while Yeakley and D. Currie excelled on the line. Gift and Eagle at the flanks and Hill and Pope in the backfield starred for the burg team.

Xenia threatened in the first quarter when the locals advanced the ball to Miamiburg's five yard line. The "burg" team strengthened in the second period, and advanced the ball across the locals' goal, only to be called back for holding and pushing and lost their last chance to score. The lineup and summary:

EXPLAINS W. C. T. U. WORK AT MEETING FRIDAY AFTERNOON

An explanation of the real work of the W. C. T. U. was given by Mrs. John Ary, at the meeting of the Xenia W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. J. J. Stout on Hill street, Friday afternoon.

"So many think that the union is just to fight the Wets and pour out liquor," said Mrs. Ary, "but this is just one of the many problems we take up. Included in our campaign program is Child Welfare, Christian Citizenship, and the being a big sister to unfortunate girls, these few being first in the program we are working for this year."

An interesting report of the State Convention, recently held at Toledo, was given at the meeting by Mrs. John Dymond.

Mrs. Walter Dean, president of the A. C. Terrell W. C. T. U. was a guest at the meeting, and gave a short address, urging that the women go to the polls, next Tuesday, and vote, and to elect a woman as a member of the Board of Education.

An interesting talk was given by Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass, upon the "Curfew Enactment," touching upon the many problems that confront the city. To have the curfew law in Xenia, a committee must be formed.

Efficient Housekeeping

HELPFUL LETTERS FROM READERS

Mother of Six: "From time to time young married women ask me what is needed for a layette and how inexpensively it may be bought. In return for the many helps you have given me in personal letters, I am sending you the following figures to publish; they may help some of the young mothers who read your column:

A Layette that Costs Twenty Dollars: 2 silk-and-wool vests at $1.55 each, $3.10; 2 bands at 95c each, $1.90; 2 binders at 45c each, 90c; 2 gowns at $1.00 each, $2.00; 2-1/2 yards of flannel at 89c, $2.23; 1 Jack et (crocheted) 98c; 1 blanket, 75c; 2 booties at 25c a pair, 50c; 1 diaper cloth, $1.40 for the ten-yard bolt; little better grade diaper cloth, $1.50 for the bolt; 2 crib pads at 49c a pad, 98c; 4 dresses at 75c, $3.00. Total $19.24. Of course this list does not include outdoor garments—but it is a complete list for the baby's arrival and the other things can be gotten when needed."

Mrs. F. B. E.: "Here are some of my recipes which other women might like: Sure Dumplings: 1 quart flour 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, enough milk or water to stir to a stiff dough. Drop large spoonfuls of this mixture in lukewarm water and leave uncovered while boiling. Turn carefully with a spoon after cooking 15 minutes, and then cook 10 minutes longer."

of one hundred members, representing every organization in town, it was said.

Members of the Orient Hill Mother's Circle, and Mrs. Anna Miller, and Mrs. Walter Dean were guests at the meeting. The program closed with prayer by Mrs. Dean. The next session will be held with the Misses Krepps on North King Street.

ADVICE FOR WOMEN WHO SUFFER.

"I advise every woman who suffers with kidney trouble to try Foley Kidney Pills," writes Mrs. Bessie Brawner, 2522 Scoville Ave., Cleveland, O. "I could not do my housework, but since taking Foley Kidney Pills I feel like a new woman and am able to do my work." Rheumatic pains, swollen ankles, backache, stiff joints, sore muscles and sleep disturbing bladder ailments indicate disordered kidneys. Foley Kidney Pills act promptly. Sayre & Hemphill.

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

At the theater, where, of course, Margaret chaperoned them, although she knew none of them thought it necessary, she overheard Ted ask Joan:

"Do you like this free easy bunch who pretend to be so serious?" "They are serious," Joan replied, they look upon life as something to be used, not frittered away."

"Golly!" Ted gasped. Then: "Is it as bad as that, Joan? How can you stand the strain?"

"Because I believe as they do." "You don't look like them," His eyes roved over her pretty face. "It was pretty and stylishly made even if it was old and took in her clear well cared for skin, her daintiness."

"I know!" Ted blushed at his regard. "And do you know, Ted I sometimes feel so guilty. I feel like one of the cleverest men I know said the other night: 'that I had no right to any more than any other person, that I ought to divide it with them, the world before they take it from me.'"

"One of those lazy soap box orators who are too lazy to work, and want the other fellow to support him. I'll bet a nickel! Don't you know, Joan, that the woods is full of such men and women too, who make their living by running down the very people who support them? For goodness sakes, don't get mixed up with that bunch."

"Don't worry! I can take care of myself. There goes the curtain, stop talking."

"But can you?" Ted Walters said under his breath. He loved Joan Hayden, had loved her with a boy's love when he first met her, had kept her gay, independent spirit mirrored in his heart, her sweet face with its halo of golden curls in his mind. Now he was almost a man, almost ready to choose a mate, and he felt he loved her with a man's honest love—that she was the one girl he wanted for his girl, then his wife.

Did she care for him? Ted Walters was no coward, yet he feared to ask her. Love seemed so far from her thoughts, comradeship the only thing she desired of him, and to his comfort he thought of any man. Was she as serious minded as she would make him think, or was it pretense, a pose because of the people with whom she had surrounded herself? She was the leading spirit now just as she had been when she was a little girl and all the children did as she wanted them to, while she followed her own sweet will.

He watched her changing face as the play went on, a clean little comedy. Some of the others looked and acted bored. There was nothing particularly new, nothing at all risque about the little drama of married life being played before them. But Joan did not look bored, she followed the movement of the play breathlessly. She smiled her approval when someone who tried to do the right thing came out ahead, she wiped her eyes frankly at some sad passages. No, she wasn't like the others who saw neither the fun nor the pathos in the play. She was still clean and sweet, as dainty of mind as she was of person.

"Wasn't it lovely, Ted?" Joan asked as the curtain went down for the last time and she gave him her wrap. "Perfectly lovely!" he replied looking straight into her eyes. He might have told her that but for the changing expressions of her face he would have known nothing of the play. He only knew it as she had interpreted it to him.

"I was so glad that dear woman was happy at last," she mused as he wrapped her cloak about her shoulders.

Margaret sent them all home in taxis, taking Ted and Joan back with her. "Joan is going to stay with me tonight, Ted. Would you like to come in and have a bite of supper? Hannah usually leaves something for me."

"Thank you, Mrs. Hayden. Did you ever know a college boy to refuse such?"

With much laughter and gay chatter they raided the ice box. Margaret, wise in her generation did not leave them, but when the impromptu meal was finished sent Ted home as was her custom when he was a lad of 12 years.

THE REXALL STORE
Xenia, Ohio

The business affairs of the City of Xenia call for the election of Judge H. L. Smith, M. J. Hartley and George E. Hudson AS City Commissioners to be voted for on

Tuesday, November 8th

Find your voting places and vote.

The present requires that the affairs of the City be managed by skilled and experienced men; and this is not intended as a reflection on any previous management of the City under this form of government, but the added utilities, increasing population and the consequent greater burdens of government call for attention, skill, experience and ability to the end that good government at the least cost to the public be had.
